WEST OF'S SUMMER
DOUBLE ISSUE SHIFTS FROM A CALENDAR TO A GAME-INSPIRED THEME

By Lorne Chambers | Editor & Publisher

Every year, during the first week of July, West Of publishes our Summer Double edition. This issue stays on the racks for an extra week and is our annual "Guide To West Ashley Living." Each time there's usually some fun but nonsensical theme that goes throughout the entire issue. We've used everything from plundering pirates to super heroes, from wild west outlaws to circus sideshow freaks, and even created a West Ashley Zodiac one year (my personal favorite).

At the heart of The Almanac was a calendar, which began in July of the current year and ended in June of the following year. Admittedly, this was not the most logical calendar cycle. But the issue was always our most popular of the year and readers loved the calendar, even if it was slightly hard to follow.

This year, instead of doing the calendar-based Almanac issue in the summer, we decided to move it to our special Winter Double Issue, coming out in late December/early January. Imagine that, a calendar that starts in January? Crazy, we know. But what would we do for our Summer Double Issue, which had become our most creative and fun issue of the entire year?

Without further ado, we're proud to introduce Westopoly!

Inspired by the classic board game Monopoly, Westopoly isn't an actual game, but more just a fun way to illustrate our annual "Guide To West Ashley Living."

Because at its core, a traditional Monopoly board is a snapshot of a community, it lends itself to highlighting those businesses and organizations that make West Ashley special. The other iconic imagery, from the money and tokens to the Chance and Community Chest cards, are also a playful way to relay to our readers interesting offers and useful information about living in West Ashley.

It has been a lot of work to put together this Westopoly issue, but we think the end result is worth it. We hope you enjoy reading it as much as we did putting it together.

This Onion Will Not Make You Cry

THE GLASS ONION HAS PUT WEST ASHLEY'S DINING SCENE ON THE NATIONAL MAP

Sponsored Westopoly Content

When owner Chris Stewart first opened The Glass Onion, the idea was simply to create a quality neighborhood restaurant off the peninsula.

What he and a few friends, some of them devoted customers, would help solidify was the idea that truly fine dining can happen anywhere, even in a casual setting, with farm-fresh, locally-sourced produce and meats in the hands of seasoned professional chefs and cooks.

Stewart said the biggest reason for The Glass Onion's success has been "a great staff and the great repeat customers who have supported us."

The menu tips its hat to Southern traditional fare, but does so with flair all The Glass Onion's own. Its signature "Thunder Sauce" adorns many of the offerings that seem simple and straightforward, until their flavors explode in the mouth.

Like the chicken liver mousse, whipped airy and light, served on simple crackers, the dish brings together rustic approaches to food with a metropolitan pulse as the creaminess of the livers give way to the salty, briny under notes, and the crunch of the cracker is offset by the sweetness of the in-house made jelly.

There's certainly a worldliness about The Glass Onion, probably because there are farms all over the globe. While many of the items that went into "Braised Heritage Farm Pork Belly with Mashed Potatoes and Summer Succotash" may have come from area farms, the dish would beat home on a New York City menu, or a bistro's fare in Paris.

So, do your mouth a flavor ... er, favor, and get down to The Glass Onion.

The Art of Bread

NORMANDY FARM ARTISAN BAKERY

Sponsored Westopoly Content

Mike Ray isn't the kind of guy to over-think things. Surprising, considering he's a French-trained baker.

But as the owner of Normandy Farm Artisan Bakery, Ray takes a more "on the fly" approach to life than you'd expect from someone with a contemplative background in the most strictly chemistry-laden slice of the culinary world.

Whether it's swimming across a body of water he probably shouldn't have, or climbing a mountain he'd never seen before, Ray tends to take a decidedly different and sometimes extreme path.

Except when it comes to his rustic breads and other handmade treats.

While many a bakery would settle to cut open a bag of factory-roasted coffee beans before brewing a pot, or slicing open a slab of grocery meats before making a sandwich, Ray and his crew have already rolled up their sleeves.

Not only does Normandy Farm use the highest quality ingredients in their breads, cakes, rolls, and bagels, but they also roast their own deli meats and roast their own coffee beans.

Walk into the store on any given morning, and there will be Ray or one of his employees cranking up an enormous roaster and throwing in anything from traditional Ethiopian Yirgacheffe beans or special imported Tanzanian peaberry beans.

The smoky, earthy, and never bitter brews easily outstrip the noise

Ray will soon embark on a different kind of "brew," as he is in the final throes of putting together a pizza and beer garden downtown, as well as putting the finishing touches of a portable stationary bike-racing company that will visit other restaurants.

So the next time you're craving a roast beef on Tuscan bread for lunch or a cup of coffee and a bagel for breakfast, head over to Normandy Farm for an added side of whizbang-whoopie-woga-woga-woga.

And a salted caramel brownie...yeesh, are they good.

THE BEACH BAR INVITES YOU TO COME PLAY ON THEIR BEACH

Sponsored Westopoly Content

Bar invites you to “come drink on their beach.”

Beach Bar owner Joe Pisasale has had a lifelong love affair with the beach, whether it's in New Jersey, Mexico, the Caribbean, or here in Charleston. When creating the Beach Bar, Pisasale wanted to incorporate all he loved about living along the coast. And yes, there's even a sandy “beach” and a tiki hut bar out front.

Inside the Beach Bar there's a real island feel too. Bright colors, beach umbrellas, fruity drinks, and cold beers a'plenty. The cocktail menu was created by Pisasale's sister and general manager Linda. There are six signature cocktails, made with vodka, rum, tropical-flavored rums, tropical juices, ginger beer, and sodas. For example, the Surf's

Up includes blue curaçao, vodka, and coconut rum with tropical juices. Frozen drinks include margaritas, tropical colodas, and daiquiris. There are even six “beginner” cocktails, for those who want tropical flavor without the booze.

The food also has a beachy feel, offering burgers, wraps, she-crab soup and salads, as well as specialties like a 10-ounce rib-eye, the popular baked chicken leg quarter, and wasabi pea encrusted tuna.

Whether you come by for lunch, dinner, or just grabbing a drink and taking advantage of the Beach Bar's awesome happy hour after work, this place will surely have you on island time.

Formosan Termites ARE HERE!

Formosan Termite Facts:

In the United States it causes tremendous property damage resulting in enormous treatment and repair costs. It is sometimes referred to as the “Super Termite” because:

- It eats wood at a rapid rate
- Formosan colonies are big. While native subterranean termite colonies might support an average of 300,000 workers, for example, Formosan colonies can average millions of workers - all of them foraging for food (wood).
- A typical colony of Formosan termites could forage an area more than one acre in diameter.
- It infests a wide variety of structures (including boats and high-rise condominiums).

culinary teeth downtown at Blossom and then at The Kiawah Island Inn.

Tacking from fine dining to comfort food, DiBernardo worked for Sal Parco (Mustard Seed, Boulevard Diner, Sette) for seven years before running the kitchen at Rita's Seaside Grille on Folly Beach before finding a partnership with the Kish family of Queen Street Hospitality Group (82 Queen, Lowcountry Bistro).

“Barbecue is my passion,” says DiBernardo, whose wife wondered why the big switch. “If I’m having to sleep up here three nights a week on a cot in the back tending the pit, just to make pasta, then there’s a problem.”

Creating his signature barbecue has been a trailblazing effort, too, as DiBernardo has assiduously avoided copying any one or any region’s style.

“My sweet red sauce starts out with caramelized onions, oranges and rosemary as the foundation” before the classic ingredients of molasses, brown sugar and red tomatoes are added, says DiBernardo

“I’ve built my sauces to complement the meat; I built the sweet red to complement the brisket and the Alabama white, with its mayonnaise and lemon juice and horseradish, to complement the pork belly and turkey.”

Thesmokepitruns24hoursaday,sevendays a week, thanks to overnights from DiBernardo and a helper. They start off the meats with hickory until there’s enough smoke to carry the flavor, and then finish the process with white and red oak and pecan.

Sandwiches offer three meat options: beef, chicken, or wiener schnitzel. There are nine specialty varieties, which are customizable. The Mama Mueller's Fav is topped with Swiss, garlic butter, herbs, and spices; the Berliner is topped with sautéed onions, bacon, and pesto; and the Jäger is wiener schnitzel pounded flat, breaded, sautéed, and served on a hoagie roll with mushroom sauce. The French, an Italian, a Swiss, and American are straightforward. Mueller's German beef burgers are served at 3/4 pound sizes. The beef is mixed with diced onions, egg, and breadcrumbs for a more robust flavor.

For those who maybe aren't into the German cuisine scene, there is also typical American pub fare, such as wings, American-style Cheeseburgers, chicken fingers, jalapeño poppers, and cheese fries.

Behind the bar, Mueller hand-picked German brews that are popular on both sides of the Atlantic like Späten, Warsteiner, and Franziskaner. According to Mellow Mushroom's website: "Mellow is a state of mind, a culture, and a way of being." And Mellow Mushroom Avondale fully embodies this philosophy with its chill and funky atmosphere, friendly staff, 30 beers on tap, and trademark stone-baked pizzas. Mellow Mushroom Pizza Bakers was founded in 1974 in Atlanta. Since then they've been serving up fresh stone baked pizzas in eclectic, art-filled and family friendly environments. Each Mellow is locally owned and operated with a unique vibe focused around great customer service and high quality food. Mellow Mushroom Avondale owners

Michael Shemtov, Johnny Hudgins, and Josh Broome, who opened their West Ashley franchise in March of 2011, are proud to serve West Ashley with delicious pizza, hoagies, calzones, and salads. Housed in an old movie house, Mellow Mushroom Avondale's playful décor pays homage to the buildings roots, with a giant old school movie projector in the center of the restaurant and humongous murals of unfurled celluloid adorning the walls, from floor to ceiling. The building's original tenant, The Ashley Theatre, opened on Feb. 20, 1950, showing The Sands of Iwo Jima, starring John Wayne. Now days, the building has a different kind of star on display, like Mellow's Philosopher's Pie, which is an olive and garlic base, with all-natural grilled steak, Portobello mushrooms, artichoke hearts, Kalamata olives, Provolone, feta, and mozzarella cheeses. Or there's also the Cosmic Karma, which has a red sauce base with feta and mozzarella cheeses, spinach, sun-dried and Roma tomatoes with a pesto swirl.

from men's and women's fashion to housewares and furniture, and "even a shoe section for the kids into the hip-hop scene," she said. Ann Taylor, Prada, Banana Republic, and other big names are on display and hang on every aisle, as their consignment policies have attracted more upscale brands. After 90 days, if the item doesn't sell, which is rare, and the consigner doesn't want to come pick it up, Burrell and Flynn have it donated to charity and the tax receipt returned to the consigner. Burrell and Flynn should be a well-known name, as the two have run a coffee shop-turned-catering spot along Savannah Highway – one of several businesses the duo run in the area in addition to an equally massive consignment shop in Columbia. The two decided a few years ago to sell one of their Folly Beach businesses, because it was just getting too much to handle, said Flynn, who said it was time "to cutback our workdays from 15 hours to 10- to 12 hours a day." Flynn said there were opportunities for Consign Charleston to take a space in North Charleston, where national big box stores have struggled, but the more upscale, eco-friendly vibe in West Ashley better suited their store. The dynamic duo continue to give back to the community that has supported their successes via charity drives, like a recent one that netted nearly 800 pounds of food for the Charleston Animal Society. Consign Charleston is located at 1610 Sam Rittenberg Blvd. For more information, call 225-9065 and visit www.consigncharleston.com

Somehow, Beth Burrell and Seana Flynn have been able to shoehorn everything they have going on at Consign Charleston into a 40,000 square-foot space along Sam Rittenberg Boulevard. While one-fourth of the space is reserved for back storage, there are items from more than 9,000 consigners out on the floor, according to Flynn, who handpicks and hand-prices every item. And you will be able find just about any kind of item or brand on the showroom floor,

A Slice of Life

PAISANO'S IS AN AUTHENTIC PIZZERIA, WHERE THEY MAKE YOU FEEL LIKE OLD FRIENDS

Sponsored Westopoly Content

In 2009 Skover and Slater opened their first Paisano's Pizza Grill on James Island using fresh ingredients and bubbling cheese on a homemade crust. Skover says everything is made in-house from scratch — the sauce, the delicious bleu cheese for the chicken wings — everything. Needless to say, it was a recipe for success and Paisano's quickly became the pie of choice among James Islanders. So early last year, the entrepreneuring Skover and Slater noticed a void among West Ashley pizza places offering local, handmade New York-style pizzas. It didn't take long for Paisano's to gain the same reputation in this part of town as it did on James Island. Quickly, Paisano's is a favorite among West Ashley locals. "We're truly grateful for all our loyal Paisans who keep us in business," says Skover, who along with his friend and business partner Slater have created a place to bring your family or to meet up with a couple of friends after work. With menu items ranging from pizzas to sandwiches to gyros, Paisano's is sure to have something for everyone. The friendly employees create an inviting atmosphere that make you feel like you're old friends or as they like to call you "Paisans." Paisano's Pizza Grill is located at 1798 Ashley River Road. For more information, call 818-4969 and visit www.paisanosji.com.

There really isn't a more communal food than pizza. It's cut into slices so it can be shared among friends. So Paisano, which is slang in Italian for compatriot or friend, is the perfect name for a pizza restaurant. And Paisano's Pizza Grill owners Nick Skover and Mark Slater were true Paisans long before they opened their first pizzeria. The two best friends had long shared a passion for eating, drinking, and making pizzas.

hand those that have been open for 30 years.

In just a few short months, RPub will reach that rare air and hit the three-decade mark. As its logo proudly states, RPub has been a West Ashley tradition since 1985, offering cold beer, live music, and tasty bar food.

Current owner Robert Richmond purchased the bar in 2003. It seems fitting that someone who's initials are R.R. would take over a bar named RPub. But the actual name of the bar had little to do with why he bought the place. It was just the right price at the right time in what would prove to be the right place. While West Ashley wasn't quite as bustling back then, Richmond saw the potential for this part of town and this little neighborhood bar.

"I was living in Atlanta at the time, but had been to Charleston to visit, and just fell in love with the city," he recalls. "So shortly after that I started to look at businesses for sale."

He soon found an old bar for sale that had a lot of character and a lot of characters frequenting the place. It's those characters, the loyal regulars, whom Richmond credits for RPub's longevity.

While it's the regular customers who make RPub what it is, Richmond also has a secret three-step recipe for success:

1. Cold beer.
2. Friendly faces.
3. Good services.

These are the foundation any good neighborhood watering hole is built upon. And RPub's foundation has stood the test of time.

R Pub is located at 1836 Ashley River Road. For more information, call 556-1975 and visit www.rpubonline.com

There's no denying that Charleston is a city that loves its history. And while there are plenty of old historical landmarks in West Ashley — Charles Towne Landing, Magnolia Plantation, Drayton Hall, to name a few — there are few bars or restaurants that have even been open 10 years. There are even fewer that have been around for 20 years. And you can probably count on one being there when customers need repairs have been the cornerstone of Jerry Compton's business since he first opened Low Country Vac & Sew 27 years ago.

Sure, having fair prices on quality products is a good first step. But Low Country Vac & Sew wants to go the extra mile. "Treat people like I wanted to be treated" has been Jerry's Golden Rule for nearly three decades.

Having a fully professional and stocked parts and repair shop means that customers will be treated to a good-as-new vacuum cleaner or sewing machine every time they come for a tune-up, regardless of the brand or the gravity of the repair.

And now it's Jerry's son's turn. Brian Compton is hard at work to make sure the Low Country Vac & Sew name is synonymous with quality. And that will take a younger man, as the store has expanded what it offers.

Still an authorized Miele vacuums dealer, the extended showroom now includes Panasonic, Hoover, and Simplicity vacuums, as well as IQAir System HEPA air purifiers, used in hospital operating rooms around the world.

Citadel Mall has it! Whether you want a package of frozen spinach (Target's newly remodeled Fresh Grocery section) a canoe (Dick's Sporting Goods), a fashionable outfit (JCPenney), a new Craftsman miter saw (Sears), a coral quilt (Belk), or cosmetics for mom (Dillard's).

A new, fresh breath of local air has blown into Citadel Mall in recent years, bringing with it dining options like Sesame Burgers and Beer, with its award-winning burgers served alongside craft brews.

Neen's Beans, a family-run coffee shop has as its stated mission to "bring local customers to local businesses." Ladles Soups is locally run, too, with 400 rotating recipes to delight.

And if you spend too much time noshing on Sesame's onion rings or Neen's Beans homemade treats, or King Street Grille's killer nachos, then skip on over to the "No-Judgement" zone at Planet Fitness Gym where you can burn off calories 24 hours a day or night.

Special events harken shoppers back time after time to Citadel Mall, like upcoming back-to-school shopping events and the opportunity to win Hootie and the Blowfish concert tickets. July 3-6, every time you spend $100 in the mall, you get lunch on the mall!

Should little legs get tired from scooting from store to store, then they can climb aboard the kid-approved Choo-Choo train for a trip around the mall and food court!

"There is no one reason for our success," says Roundtree, who along with Capasso and Schafer actually work in the bar and greet customers personally. "I think our strong attribute is our work ethic. We really aim to give our customers a great experience with every sports package, talented local entertainment, and great food," he says. However, Roundtree can't go without saying that most of The Roost's success comes from the hard work of his great staff. "They are the best!"

After several years of owning and running bars in downtown Charleston, business partners Reay Roundtree, Ralph Capasso, and Dennis Schafer wanted to do something different. So about four years ago, when a space came available in the still blossoming Avondale area of West Ashley, the threesome decided to shift gears and use their combined expertise and open a place that was part sports bar, part restaurant, support from the locals. It has been a nice change to be so personable with regulars instead of drawing maps for tourists."

After an extensive renovation of the existing property, The Roost Bar N' Grill is now a West Ashley institution. Best known as the place to go for watching college football (especially the Gamecocks), The Roost is also one of the area's most happening nightlife spots. From

Think Globally, Invest Locally

JERICO ADVISORS MAKING A DIFFERENCE THROUGH COMMUNITY CAPITALISM

The staff at Jericho Advisors collaborates with entrepreneurs to build strong companies and communities. Their unique approach blends practical, time-tested advice with innovative strategies, personalized service, and world-class support. Whether their clients are start-ups or seasoned businesses, they look to Jericho Advisors to spot opportunities and solve problems, to work proactively, and to be an objective voice when discussing their financial future.

Josh Silverman, who formed Jericho Advisors in 2011, has established a team that provides integrated business consulting, Sponsored Westopoly Content accounting, tax, financial planning, and insurance services. “We also have extensive knowledge in raising capital, and have worked with clients to develop opportunities to invest locally, from specialty food products and restaurants to high-tech and biotech ventures. And we do all this at a price that won’t break the bank,” says Silverman.

“Part of our mission is to positively impact the community, so it was an obvious choice to move the company last year to West Ashley where business growth is paired with lifestyle and livability,” says Silverman. Since relocating to Avondale, Jericho Advisors has supported the chART Outdoor Art initiative, the Avondale 5K run, the Avondale Holiday Winterfest, and have even hosted meetings of the Byrnes Downs Neighborhood Association. They are also a member of Lowcountry Local First and sponsor numerous nonprofits, including the Junior League, I Heart Hungry Kids, and the Harbor Entrepreneur Center.

“We also work to build the fabric of the creative class economy in the region, and have dedicated large-scale exhibition space in our corporate office for contemporary art,” explains Silverman. “Since we opened our doors, we have been fortunate enough to showcase painters, photographers, graphic designers, jazz musicians, alt performers, and street artists to a wide audience, and we run an active schedule of lectures, events, and art openings throughout the year.” The gallery at Jericho Advisors is open to the public weekdays during normal business hours.

THE GREEN GOAT PUTS A DELICIOUS TWIST ON TRADITIONAL COMFORT FOOD

Sponsored Westopoly Content

The care for the customers that Ruff and Lewis have instilled in their staff shines through in the quality of the food and service that welcomes everyone who comes through the doors.

Half of the restaurant is dedicated to a more lively scene, with a full bar, multiple televisions, and community tables, where guests can keep it lively while still blowing off steam from a hard day's work, via trivia or karaoke some nights.

The other half is a more serene environment, where families can sit across from each other in curved, comfy banquettes, or couples can canoodle over bowls of pasta and bottles of wine at quiet tables.

The menu at the Green Goat is almost as distinctive as the restaurant's name. Where some spots are happy to just serve straight classics, this kitchen can't leave well enough alone, and elevates everything it sends out.

Grilled cheese sandwiches are on the menu, but they're going to be enhanced with hand-pulled, homemade mozzarella. Burgers are made with grass-fed beef. Pasta dishes come in a variety of sizes, shapes, and even gluten-free.

Meatloaf at the Green Goat gets transformed into "Ham and Swiss Stuffed Meatloaf," where the ingredients are combined like a classic French roulade.

Top that? They already did - with green tomato gravy.

The Green Goat's first-year anniversary may take place in late-July, but the past year has been a coming-home celebration for Kelly Ruff, who co-owns the Goat with Jason Lewis.

Ruff, who grew up in West Ashley, and Lewis opened the Green Goat in hopes of giving neighbors in West Ashley a restaurant where they could bring their kids or have a date night, and still enjoy quality food and drinks.

WEST ASHLEY OVERSTOCK OFFERS BRAND NAME ITEMS AT WELL-DISCOUNTED PRICES

Sponsored Westopoly Content

Tucked away in a bright line of stores about a stone's throw from Citadel Mall, West Ashley Overstock is a newcomer to the recently renovated Citadel Shops on Orleans Road. Owner Aloysius

Zealy, a 26-year veteran of the Coast Guard, arrived in Charleston on duty in 2009 and decided that he liked our little city just a bit better than his hometown of Savannah or his previous residence in Atlanta. "I have lived here for the past four and a half years and just decided that Charleston is the place for me. After meeting various people in and around Charleston, West Ashley seemed like the right fit of community and opportunity to start my business," says Zealy. West Ashley Overstock is a neat collection of brand name items at well-discounted prices. From furniture to electronics, home goods, and appliances to apparel and grocery items, Zealy keeps an always-changing selection of high-quality, brand name merchandise in stock at clearance-level prices. "Between the support of the store owners and employees of the surrounding businesses, the very local and friendly feel of the Bank of SC, and the response and support of customers we have reached so far, we know we made the right decision," says Zealy. So if you're out looking for a good deal on, well, just about anything, take a minute to drop by West Ashley Overstock and check out their always changing – and always growing – inventory. Even if you don't find what you need, you just might find something you've always wanted. *West Ashley Overstock is located in the Citadel Shops at 821 Orleans Road, Suite 106. a bustling catering operation right here in West Ashley. The company was built and directed by classically trained chefs, including owner and pitmaster Aaron Siegel. He's a Culinary Institute of America graduate who honed his skills at such venerable establishments as Nava (in Atlanta), Cache Cache (in Aspen, Colo.), and sandwiches and wraps, highlighted with dry-rubbed and slow smoked pork, ribs, chicken, turkey, sausage, and brisket.

At any given time inside the Home Team pits, there could be over 700 pounds of pork butts, 150 racks of ribs, 300 half-chickens, and 800 chicken wings as well as corn, peppers, and mushrooms. Walk into the kitchen and the dust from gallons of dry rub being mixed can fill the air. The smell of house-cured bacon permeates the dining room as it slowly cools on the shelf.

The Home Team experience is further enhanced with a full schedule of national, regional, and local touring musicians performing plenty of live blues, bluegrass, and Americana.

that makes West Ashley just a little bit cooler than those other parts of Charleston that we won't mention.

A decade ago, owners Jen and Mike Kulick used their extensive food and beverage background to create this Avondale gem in a part of town that was yet to see the complete rebirth that we now have witnessed. It was the Kulick's vision and hard work that helped Avondale grow into a hot night life destination. And through that time Voodoo has quietly remained one of Charleston's best bars.

You really wouldn't expect a bar as non-traditional as Voodoo to serve up your typical bar food would you? Don't worry, it doesn't. Specializing in gourmet tacos such as BBQ duck confit, bacon cheeseburger, Bahn Mi, Baja shrimp, and red curry fried chicken ... just to name a few. They also offer up other tasty bites, like duck club sliders, oxtail sliders, flatbread pizzas, crawfish spring rolls, Bangkok street corn, ginger pork stickers, and traditional Filipino lumpia. All tacos are half-off during Happy Hour (Tues.-Fri. 4-7 p.m. and all-night on Mondays).

And while there are no TVs at the bar, there is no shortage of entertainment. Voodoo often hosts jazz shows, including a regular Cuban Jazz Night with Salsa dancing every Sunday and it's newly added Summer

Dance Party every Tuesday night, featuring live music from Phunk Phactor, featuring musicians from Plane Jane.

Highway 61, the quirky, vibrant interior and salt-soaked metallic exterior seem strangely familiar. And when you find out that the restaurant is co-owned by Jack's Cosmic owner Jack Hurley - along with his son Morgan, Dave Lorenz, and Roddy Smith - it all makes a lot more sense.

"We wanted to have a laid back, beach vibe in a place that would be known for quality and consistent food and tasty cocktails," says co-owner Morgan Hurley.

It certainly has gained that reputation over the short time since Mex 1 welcomed it's first west coast food enthusiasts. Morgan adds that they have a growing number of repeat customers for some of Mex 1's classics such as the Bangin' Shrimp Taco and the Pineapple Habanero Margarita.

"We also have some fun block parties like Cinco de Mayo and Lowco Surf Jam that help bring the Avondale area neighbors together for a party," says Morgan.

Probably the biggest draw for Mex 1, however, is their ever expanding selection of tequilas. From anejo to mescal to blanco, reposado and everything in between, there are few tequilas available on the North American market that don't show up in some form or fashion on the Mex 1 cocktail menu.

So if you're in the mood for some west coast cuisine made from quality local ingredients and paired with a unique tequila, look no further than your hometown Baja spot: Mex 1.

Short for the Mexican Federal Highway 1, a scenic strip that runs continuously from Cabo San Lucas to Tijuana on the Baja California Peninsula, Mex 1 Coastal Cantina is a true reflection of its isolated west coast origins. Offering diverse dishes inspired by local fare found from the sunny shores to the cool mountainous regions of Baja, Mex 1 doesn't just offer tacos, they're your hometown source for fish tacos, salads, tortas, quesadillas, and the best darn rice bowls this side of the continent.

admitted to simply wanting a shorter walk to work.

"I really wanted to help improve the area as well as be close to home," says Harris.

Eight and a half years later, Peckers is still going strong; a fact that Harris attributes first and foremost to their menu. Instead of jumping on the early '90s "gourmet" bandwagon and creating a trendy, what's-hip-for-the-moment menu, Harris instead decided to go with quality and simplicity.

"We believed from day one that if we took pride in having quality food and good service, we could succeed. We keep things simple, stick to the standards, and strive for the best and freshest wings, burgers, cheese steaks and salads. We make everything in house and ensure its quality," says Harris.

And they don't skimp on the entertainment, either. On any given night, Peckers is hopping, either with live music, bingo, trivia, or any one of a number of unique events regularly hosted at the restaurant. There's always something up at Peckers!

"I think we've really created a fun neighborhood joint. It's a bit cliché, but you come in a stranger and leave as a friend. We all strive to meet and get to know all of our guests and we're very grateful for all who have played a role in helping us succeed throughout the years," says Harris.

Why name a restaurant and sports bar "d.d. Peckers"? Because it serves great chicken, of course. But also because it appealed to co-owners Brian Lawson's and Derek Harris' unique sense of humor. Complete with a beer-swilling rooster in the logo and painted loud and proud on the side of the dark wood building, Lawson and Harris are the first to admit that d.d. Peckers' Wing Shack always is ready to rock out.

Having moved to Charleston from Philadelphia in 1991, Harris decided to open his dream restaurant on the slightly southern end of Savannah Highway not long after arriving. Citing the lack of restaurants in the West Ashley area, Harris also the area when she moved to Charleston in 1997, she knew what she wanted to do – groom West Ashley's dogs. "When given the opportunity to open my own business, I couldn't think of anywhere I'd rather be."

And since 2006, Barks N Bubbles has woven itself into the fabric of the community, as it receives the kindest business support possible - regular referrals of friends and family from repeat customers.

"We try to give back to the animal community every way we can including offering free services to all foster pups and animals in the local rescues," says Jackson. "Our mission is to keep West Ashley pups clean, comfortable and happy."

Jackson tries to give upscale dog-grooming services, while keeping an eye on fair prices. That doesn't mean Barks N Bubbles is scrimping when it's primping.

Jackson insists the small, dedicated staff use only all-natural shampoos, veterinarian-approved medicated baths, while also providing nail trimming, anal gland expression, and other services.

Want to take your pooch's appearance up a notch? Try hair coloring or nail painting, both available upon request. But you have to ask: staffers are pro groomers, not doggie mind readers!

Barks N Bubbles is located at 1299 Ashley River Rd. For more information, call 224-3694 and visit www.facebook.com/BarksCharleston.

It's hard to tell which Sarah Jackson loves more in West Ashley — the dogs or the people.

For the past seven and a half years, Jackson has owned and run Barks N Bubbles at the corner of Ashley River Road, across Lango Avenue from what is now Home Team BBQ.

MS. ROSE'S FINE FOODS PUTS A UNIQUE SPIN ON HOME-COOKED CLASSICS

Sponsored Westopoly Content

Looking over the menu, Mark Hendy, the chief financial officer of the Relish Restaurant Group, which runs the restaurant, sees the best of old and new in all of the items.

Rose's Chicken Soup is a delicious clear-brothed staple that allows the natural flavors of the chicken and veggies to shine through. Further down rests the Braised Beef Short Rib, served with mashed-potato-y celery root puree and natural jus.

And while there are plenty of downhome classics on the menu, general manager Dave Bucks and his staff have updated versions of super-foods like sautéed kale have modernized the offerings. And Ms. Rose's offers plenty of new twists on old favorites, like smoked meatloaf topped with barbecue sauce and served with horseradish slaw.

Keeping up with the times, many of the items on the daily menu are offered gluten-free. And keeping up with demands of neighbors and local organizations, a back room that can be closed off for privacy sits waiting.

Adorning the back wall of the semi-private room is a frieze made of kitchen items, flatware and cutlery installed by award-winning College of Charleston sculpture professor Jarod Charzewski, that not only captures the eye but also ties into the modern design aesthetic present in the main dining areas. Old/new. Past/present/future. Intimate/expansive. It's all here at Ms. Rose's. And it's all good.

Ms. Rose's Fine Food and Cocktails is located at 1090 Sam Rittenberg Blvd. For more information call 766-0223 and visit www.msroses.com.

For the past two years, The Original Ms. Rose's Fine Food and Cocktails has sat at the confluence of all things good in West Ashley. The Ashley River creeps by a few blocks a way while chefs stir modern approaches to distinctly southern fare in the kitchen, while neighbors meet and eat inside the dining room, as art climbs the wall of the back room, and owner Anita Zucker's mom, Ms. Rose, provides a bridge to the past.

Litaker's Jewelers, Inc.

It makes sense that owners Robert Litaker and Michelle Caldwell call the goldsmiths who trained them "old school." And that's because everything about the 61-year-old business is steeped in tradition and history.

For more than 50 years, Litaker's was located downtown, which used to be a great place for a small business to thrive.

Now, with West Ashley blossoming, the duo, which has 46 years combined experience at repair and restoration and design, moved their business to the part of town where they grew up.

Located within shouting distance of Citadel Mall and just off Sam Rittenberg and right behind Best Buy, Litaker's makes it personal and convenient to create, or repair, the family's jewels.

Decades of trust don't spring up overnight. At Litaker's, they've been earning your trust decade after decade after decade.

At Litaker's, when you have work done, you speak directly to the artisan – there are no salespeople as go-betweens. Leaving your valued jewelry in the hands of a trained friend and neighbor just makes more sense. Especially, if you want to have some pearls strung by hand, or something engraved, by machine or by hand.

Litaker's Jewelers is open Mon.-Thurs. from 9 a.m.-5 p.m. and Friday from 9 a.m.-4 p.m. It is located at 856-A Dupont Road. For more information call 763-7025 or email litakersjewelers@hotmail.com or visit www.facebook.com/pages/Litakers-Jewelers gardens I visited. I love Magnolia ... I really was impressed," said Jennifer Trehane, former director of the International Camellia Society when she visited Magnolia. And according to BudgetTravel.com, Magnolia Plantation and Gardens is one of the "14 Most Beautiful Home and Garden Tours in America." West Ashley residents are lucky that they can experience the beauty of its gardens Magnolia Plantation whenever they like.

But more than just a pretty face, Magnolia is also a site steeped in history. It was recently awarded the Heritage Tourism Award for their interpretive program at the slave cabins by The Palmetto Trust for Historic Preservation, South Carolina's only statewide partner with the National Trust for Historic Preservation.

But the educational lessons at Magnolia don't end with history. Magnolia allows you to get up close and personal to local wildlife, either with its nature train, boat tours, bird walks, or at the petting zoo, where children can get a closer view of whitetail deer and pygmy goats, giving them the opportunity to view some of this wildlife in a friendly hands-on environment.

Magnolia Plantation and Gardens is open 365 days a year, including all major holidays. It is located at 3550 Ashley River Road. For more information, call 571-1266 and visit www.magnoliaplantation.com.

Founded in 1676 by the Drayton family, Magnolia Plantation has survived the centuries and witnessed the history of our nation unfold before it from the American Revolution through the Civil War and beyond. It's the oldest public tourist site in the Lowcountry, and the oldest public gardens in America, opening its doors to visitors in 1870 to view the thousands of beautiful flowers and plants in its famous gardens.
